THE BOY CAUGHT

Young Chester Savage, Who Killed His Cousin, Near Hebron

There is constant inquiry for the actual facts of the shooting of William Savage Monday by his thirteen-year-old cousin, Chester Savage.

The boy is the only one who can tell what took place at the very time of the killing.

Young Savage was arrested yesterday afternoon in Concord by Deputy Sheriff Bramer of Lewis county and turned over to Deputy Sheriff Mackey of this county, who arrived on a freight train shortly after the arrest had been made.

He was brought to this city at 1 o'clock this morning and placed in jail.

When visited by a representative of THE LEDGER, he was seated on a chair looking out his cell window and apparently meditating over events of the past two days.

The boy is bright, intelligent and has a pleasant countenance. He would never be taken for a criminal.

Though respectful, he is cool and deliberate in what he says, apparently weighing his words.

He said he remained over night in Concord with a family named Layton.

When asked if he knew anything about the killing, and why he left, he replied that he did not want to talk about it. His father has not yet seen him. Edward Trimble, a cousin, of Ribolt, Lewis county, was here to see him this morning.

The boy is not sullen, but tells his interrogators in a respectful manner that he will not talk until he sees his father.

The boy's father, Rev. James Savage, of Lewis county, came here yesterday morning expecting to find his son in jail. He seemed surprised to learn that he was still at large and expressed the wish that he would be caught.

The father is all broken up over the sad affair and cannot account for his boy's conduct, save on the theory that he must have gone crazy.

He sincerely deplores the tragedy, and says it is the first stain on the family name.

The boy's mother is dead and he is the only child.

He was born in Texas, and was ten years old when his parents returned to Kentucky. He was always of a good disposition and never manifested any vicious or bad traits of character.

James Savage, father of the boy, is a nephew of the late James Currans Savage of Fernlenf, the father of William L. Savage who was shot and killed.

The dead man, William L. Savage, had three brothers in the Methodist Conference. The oldest was Rev. Frank A. Savage, who taught school in Mason county, and was at one time the County Surveyor. Rev. E. Currans Savage is a well-known Minister, and his brother, Rev. J. Rector Savage, held a meeting at the M. E. Church, South, in this city a few years ago.

Chester Savage attended the Germantown Fair with his father and was left at William Savage's on a visit.

He and young Albert Savage were about the same age and became fast friends.

A few days ago Chester's father wrote him that he would come down for him Tuesday and take him back to Lewis county and shortly they would go back to Texas.

The tragedy followed and now the lad is a criminal.

Though bowed down with sorrow, and his heart broken on account of his boy, James Savage attended the funeral of his cousin yesterday and mingled his tears with those of his relatives over the bier of the slain.

UNRULY CROWDS

C. and O. West End Station Quite a Noisy Place

The conduct of half grown boys and girls at the C. and O. Depot, especially on Sunday nights, is something fierce and intolerable. As the ladies' waiting-room is made an assembling place, those having business there are compelled to seek the walk in front of the Depot in order to escape the noise and rowdiness that goes on inside the room.

It is no fault of the efficient and gentlemanly attaches in the office, however. Their manifold duties will not permit of them leaving their post to maintain order in other parts of the building.

What is needed is a night watchman, with Police authority, employed by the road to maintain order and protect their guests from insult and vulgarity.

SOME $15 SUITS

If we were asked "to point with pride" to any particular part of this splendid stock of Women's Suits we'd probably choose our line at $15. That's a popular but much abused price. Some merchants think "everything goes" as long as the price is $15. Our view point is different. We crowd as much merit in excellence of fabric, carefulness of make, precision of fit and stylish design as is possible into the suits, so the woman who buys will be a come-back-again customer. Judge for yourself; when you see these $15 Suits in plain and fancy chevrons, serge and plaid you'll admit they are splendid values. No charge for alterations.

REPUBLICAN PRECINCT MEETINGS.

By order of the Republican Executive Committee of Mason county, the Republicans of the Fifth Ward in Maysville, and Orangeburg, are called to meet in their respective Precincts on Saturday afternoon, September 23d at 2 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting Precinct Chairmen to fill vacancies now existing.

The Fifth Ward meeting will be held at Ilanchar's corner, and the Orangeburg meeting in front of D. G. Wilson's Store.

W. D. COCHRAN, Chairman.

THERE'S now no doubt that Louisville is the proper place for the State Fair. Last week there were 88 births in that city and only 82 deaths, showing a handsome and unusual increase in population.

TRADE conditions, as reported both by R. G. Dun & Co. and Bradstreet's are unusually brisk for the season and indications point to a continuance of the activity; and yet there are persons who clamor for a "change."

Why shouldn't the city's business be conducted as carefully as the business of an individual? Is there a firm in town that would employ a Bookkeeper, for instance, on a regular monthly salary, and permit him to engage in outside contracts during the time that belongs to the firm? Please don't all answer at once!

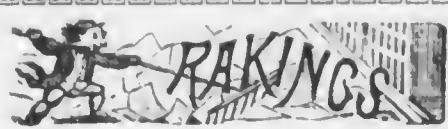

JUDGING from the action of certain salaried city officials—who are paid a regular monthly sum for the supposed duty of attending to important city business, but who let the city's business go to the devil while they take private contracts on the side,—isn't it about time the Paving Committee and the Councilmen were "seeing things!"

THE Evangelist Industry is the latest thrifty dead-beat success. Hereabouts the woods have been full of 'em, richly panoplied in bad English and 18-karat gall.

BECAUSE she had not mended his shirt BEN. RODGERS, an L. and N. Conductor, choked his wife and threw her sewing machine out of the window, for which the Police Judge of Louisville fined him $19. Ben. is a bad financier. He would have saved $18.50 by buying another shirt.

THE meeting of the Republican County Executive Committee, held in this city Saturday, was anything but a love feast. . . . Hon. A. D. COLE was called on for a speech, and in the course of his remarks suggested that it was the opinion of the masses of the Republicans of this city that the question of selecting a Postmaster should be submitted to the voters in a primary election, which was seriously objected to by the "leaders."—Evening Bulletin.

Coming from a Democratic source, this may not be altogether true; but if it is, it only shows that the people no longer have any rights that the Bosses feel called upon to respect, and certainly have no right to say who they want for Postmaster. The "Leaders" settle that: the People be damned!—and get their mail the best way they can.

A BUSY VOTER.

John Weaver, the reform Mayor of Philadelphia, was recently congratulated by a delegation of clergymen on the clean administration he has given the Quaker City, according to The Philadelphia Bulletin.

In the course of his reply Mayor Weaver said:

"I am glad to tell you that things with us have improved. Take, for instance, the matter of elections. A Philadelphian some years ago was running for a small office, and on election day he went from poll to poll cheering his supporters on.

"As he left a certain poll a shabby individual approached and shook him by the hand.

"I trust, sir," said the candidate, "that you are one of my supporters."

"One?" chuckled the shabby individual. "Why bless your heart, I'm seven of 'em."

A TRACT OF 197 1/2 ACRES located on the Cane Ridge Pike 8 miles from Paris. No improvements except a tenant house. All of this is tobacco land, a large part of it being virgin soil; 10 acres of good timber.

A TRACT OF 278 ACRES located 3 miles from Paris on the Ruddles Mills Turnpike. The improvements consist of 3 tenant houses and a tobacco barn that will hold 25,000 pounds of tobacco.

THE FISHBACK FARM, known as the Hinkston Creek Stock Farm, containing 455 acres, 154 acres of which are in Bourbon county and 301 in Nicholas county. There are 2 splendid houses and 3 tenant houses on this land. This is considered the best tract of land in that entire section.

J. H. MARTIN'S FARM OF 110 ACRES located 4 1/2 miles from Carlisle and the same distance from Millersburg. This is a well improved farm and can be bought at $90 per acre.

I shall be glad to answer any inquiries that you may wish to make with reference to these places, or any other property in which you may be interested.

WHAT GOMPERS DIDN'T

His "Influence" on the Maine Election and Mr. Littlefield

Cincinnati Times-Star.

In order to understand correctly the result of the attack of Mr. Gompers upon Congressman Littlefield, one must first discuss the Maine election. Maine has a prohibitory law. Like all prohibitory laws in opposition to public opinion of any great extent, it does not prohibit, for the whole world is aware that anyone knowing the ropes can get all he wants to drink in Maine. As a consequence, there is a formidable demand for a resubmission of the constitutional amendment prohibiting the liquor traffic, coming not only from those interested in that traffic, but from those who believe that immoral results of hypocrisy arise from the violation of the law as from the sale of the liquor itself. The Republican party of Maine is against submission; the Democratic party for it. Upon this issue it is recognized that thousands of Republican votes are lost. The election showed throughout the entire state a heavy Republican loss, not alone on the state ticket, but on the Congressional ticket, for the Congressmen stood by the party and state ticket.

In the First District Amos A. Allen's plurality of 4,989 in 1904 declined to about 1,600; Charles E. Littlefield's plurality of 5,419 was reduced to about 1,500 in the Second District; in the Third Edwin C. Burleigh's plurality of 6,863 fell off to less than 2,000, and in the Fourth Llewellyn Power saw his plurality of 8,901 cut to 3,500.

The only deduction possible from these figures is that the shrinking in the Republican pluralities was general throughout the state and due to the prohibition question. The only method of determining whether Gompers's fight on Littlefield had any bearing on the result would be by comparing the vote for Congress in the Second District with that for the gubernatorial candidate on the same ticket. If Littlefield in his District ran behind Cobb, the Republican candidate for Governor, it would be a reasonable deduction that Gompers's attack was responsible for the loss; and if Littlefield ran ahead of Cobb that Gompers had little influence, or perhaps helped his candidacy. Mr. Littlefield ran several hundred votes ahead of Cobb. Therefore we conclude that the fight Gompers made was of little effect.

As The Times-Star pointed out, Mr. Gompers has been carried away with the success of English and Australian labor "blocks," and attempted to engraft them upon the American political tree without considering the practicality of such a course. The workman's chief interest is the Protective Tariff; he must be protected from competition with the cheap help of the world. In England and in Australia the labor "blocks" ally themselves with the parties advocating Protection. In exchange for a vote for the Protective Tariff, the labor block secures support for some of its measures. But in this country, Mr. Gompers is fighting the party of Protection by siding the Free Traders. When he demands that the workingman not only not vote for a man who supports the Protective Tariff system, but that he vote for one who would open America to European cheap labor, he is asking too much of the workingman. Mr. Gompers has failed to appreciate the different conditions in America and other countries, and has failed in his first effort because of this fact. Maine, like Ohio, is too much of a Protection state to vote for a Free Trader for Congress.

ALL GOOD THINGS

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayer, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for.

A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.

J. P. A. Bone, veteran Associate Editor of The Cleveland Plain Dealer and one-time boyhood chum of John D. Rockefeller, died Monday in Cleveland of cancer. He was born in England in 1830.

ARM BONE

Taken From the Tomb of the Great Charlemagne

The German Emperor puts himself on the back as the only living man possessed of relics of Charlemagne, but the Empress Eugenie, when last in Paris, exhibited a whole arm bone of the great French-German Emperor. And William got only a tooth and some pieces of cloth.

Mason, who wrote so many interesting tales of the first Napoleon and his family, said to The Courier-Journal correspondent: "Eugenie inherited the Charlemagne relics from her husband, the third Napoleon, and the latter got them from Eugene and Hortense, the great Emperor's stepchildren. These, again, found the relics in a disused jewel casket, formerly owned by their mother, Empress Josephine. They had been forgotten for quite a while.

"This is how Josephine acquired the famous relics. Napoleon made Berdolet, a French prelate, who consented to recognize the new constitution, Bishop Aix-la-Chapelle. Consequently, when Josephine, in the summer of 1804, went there to take the waters, his Grace was most assiduous in his attentions to the Empress. Josephine had but to breathe the word and the Bishop opened for her the treasury of the famous cathedral and the grave of Charlemagne itself. The Empress had the pick of the relics and objects of art in the treasury. When she saw the body of Charles, whom Napoleon was wont to call 'his great ancestor,' she asked for a piece of it, and the Bishop gave her a whole arm. He also took from the corpse's breast a jeweled medallion containing some hair from the head of Mary. But news of this grave robbery was suppressed for a long time and leaked out only by installments after Cardinal Carrara, against the wishes of the Pope, had authorized the use of Napoleon's new Catechism, which added an eleventh commandment to the ten, namely, that everybody must obey the Emperor Napoleon in everything. The medallion containing Mary's hair is now in the possession of the Ducal family of Leuchtenborg, descendants of Eugene, who intermarried with the Russian imperial family.

A TRULY IDEAL WIFE

HER HUSBAND'S BEST HELPER
Vigorous Health Is the Great Source of Power to Inspire and Encourage—All Women Should Seek It.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this century, in a recent article, has said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration, and the greatest help mate of my life."

To be such a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, to inspire him to make the most of himself, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, irregularities or the blues, she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Following we publish by request a letter from a young wife:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:
"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach so I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me the health, new life and vitality."—Mrs. Bessie Ainsley, 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every sick and ailing woman.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free and always helpful.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN.

Learn the Cause of Dally Woes and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs.
When housework is torture.
When night brings no rest nor sleep.
When urinary disorders set in.
When a lot is a weary one.
There is a way to escape these woes.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills.
Have cured women here in Maysville.
This is one Maysville woman's testimony.
Mrs. J. B. Gibson, of 22 East Fourth street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"The prompt and thorough action of Doan's Kidney Pills should recommend them to every one suffering from backache or kidney trouble. I have known the value of this remedy for several years. Its use in my case proved to me that it is a reliable kidney cure and cannot be excelled for backache or weakness of the kidneys. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills before and I should advise every sufferer to get a supply at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore and try them."

Forsale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

SEED TIME!

An important period in farm life. Every precaution should be taken to provide an abundant increase at HARVEST TIME!

Owing to the peculiar seeding device upon the Champion Drill, a patented feature, we are firmly convinced that wheat sowed by this Drill will produce a more abundant yield than any other seeding device.

Our Opinion is Based Upon Experience
Covering a period of 8 years with this Drill.

Surely We Cannot Be Mistaken!

At any rate your duty is to take every possible precaution in seeding. You owe it to yourself to take an hour off and examine this patent Drill. The principle is so plain that any one can readily see into it.

COME, INVESTIGATE
THIS WONDERFUL MACHINE.
